THE IPOD FRIENDLY MAC MULTIMEDIA SERVER

Widgets are small pieces of « always-on » software that offer some useful functionality and run in background mode on your Mac. Popular widgets include calculators, weather displays, universal clocks, reminders and computer status panels.

The iSky widget allows you to control your satellite receiver from your Mac. Just drag your mouse to a screen corner and the iSky keypad appears on your Mac screen. The remote control appear and you can select all the menus and channels.

The widget is compatible with the Eye TV video interface and the Front Row remote. iSky is supplied with an USB to infra-red adapter.

Use iSky to convert your Mac and your existing satellite receiver into a smart PVR. Recordings will be saved on your hard disk and can be copied on DVDs using iLife.

iSky is the perfect add-on for any Mac based entertainment system. It will replace your existing remote controls and can be configured to drive your complete home cinema system. The system supports most satellite Tv receivers such as Sky, Canal+ and RTVI (Russia) satellite receivers.

iSky can be controlled by an iPod Touch in wifi mode from the aft deck or flybridge. It can also support external hard drive for back-up and high volume music and DVD storage.

Your mac will also control your satellite TV antenna to switch between satellites.
